TOWN OF CLARKSVILLE

Community Invited to “Envision South Clarksville” Workshop

CLARKSVILLE, IN – Some major changes are coming to Clarksville, and area residents are invited to join us again in shaping the future of southern Indiana. The public and area media organizations are invited to attend a community workshop for the South Clarksville Redevelopment Plan on Tuesday, November 10th at 6:30pm.

This will be the second public engagement session for the planning project, which was initiated in March. The Town of Clarksville has hired a consultant team led by MKSK, an urban planning and design firm, to develop the plan. At the first community workshop, held in May, the consultant team introduced the project to the public, shared initial findings, and discussed a preliminary vision and emerging opportunities to be further explored during the planning process. At the upcoming workshop, the planning team will present a recommended plan, which will focus on redevelopment opportunities for the Clarksville riverfront and adjacent lands, and recommendations for infrastructure and revitalization improvements throughout the study area. The team will also share a strategy for implementing the recommended plan. Community members will have an opportunity to review the plan and provide feedback. Following this workshop, a final plan will be prepared and submitted to the Town of Clarksville Redevelopment Commission in December. The planning area extends from the Ohio River to Stansifer Avenue and includes the former Marathon Oil terminal, the former Colgate manufacturing facility, Water Tower Square, Louisville Metro KOA, Derby Dinner Playhouse and the Clarion Hotel.

The workshop will be held at the Fellowship Hall of the Ohio Falls United Methodist Church, 917 S. Virginia Avenue. The meeting will begin promptly at 6:30pm. Members of the public can also engage in online discussion and find more information about the project at www.townofclarksville.com/southclarksvilleplan.php.
